CONGRESS.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
June 16th, 1834.

Sir:—In compliance with the resolution of the Senate, of the 7th of May last, directing the Secretary of the Treasury "to report as soon as practicable, to the Senate, the amount of duties received and accrued on foreign imports, during the first quarter of the year 1834, with a table showing the comparative amount of that quarter, and the corresponding quarter of the year 1833, and distinguishing between the amounts accrued or received at each port." Also, "whether anything has happened since his annual report was made at the commencement of the present session of Congress, to vary, in his opinion, the estimate contained in the said report, of the proceeds of the duties on foreign imports for the year 1834." I herewith transmit the statement required by the first resolution above mentioned, by which it appears that the duties which accrued from customs in the first quarter of 1833, amounted to the sum of $5,798,114 87, and in the corresponding quarter of 1834, to the sum of $5,344,540 40, and that the actual receipts into the Treasury from the same source in the former quarter, amounted to $6,966,437 09, and in the latter to $4,435,386 13. A few of the minor ports have not been heard from—but they cannot materially vary the result.

In answer to the second resolution, I have the honor to state, that estimating the duties on foreign imports in the annual report made at the commencement of the present session, it was assumed as the basis of the estimate, that the imports of the present year would be nearly equal to those of 1832. This estimate was higher than the average imports of the five or six preceding years; but, as stated in that report, it was considered as a safe one—because, although the imports of 1831 and 1832 had been unusually large, those of 1833 had gone still higher, and the general state of commerce and the situation of the country, justified the belief that there would be no serious diminution in the present year.

From the comparative statement of the amount of duties which accrued in the first quarter of the present year, and the corresponding quarter of 1833, it appears that the amount of foreign imports in the first quarter of 1834, must have exceeded that of the corresponding quarter in the preceding year. Several articles which form important items in our ordinary imports, and paid duty in the first quarter of 1833, were free from duty in the first quarter of 1834, and the rate of duty was reduced on others; and the difference between the amount of duty which accrued in these two quarters, would have been greater if the importations in the latter had not exceeded those of the former.

In some instances, without doubt, importations, which in the ordinary course of our foreign trade would have been made in the last quarter of 1833, were delayed until the first quarter of the present year, in order to obtain the benefit of the reduced tariff, which took effect on the first of January last—and this circumstance has enlarged, in some degree, the imports of the first quarter of 1834. But after making a due allowance for the increase which may have arisen from this cause, and which would be peculiar to the first quarter of the year, the amount of duties which accrued in the quarter, are sufficient to show that the imports of the present year will most probably exceed the amount at which they were estimated in the annual report, and be fully equal to those of 1833, which were unusually large. If this expectation should be realized, the proceeds of the customs will exceed the amount at which they were estimated by more than 1,000,000 dollars. The difference in the comparative receipts of the two first quarters as shown by the statement herewith transmitted, does not arise from any fluctuation in commerce or diminished importations, but is chiefly occasioned by the alterations in the times of payment introduced by the act of 14th July, 1832.

The receipts of the first quarter, and the bonds already taken, confirm the opinion that the income from customs will be greater than the estimate presented at the commencement of the session. The actual receipts into the Treasury from customs for the first quarter of the present year, amounted to the sum of $4,435,386 13—and the duties secured by bonds payable in the second quarter, amount to the sum of $4,005,368 77. After making a fair deduction from these amounts for return duties, which may yet be called for, and for debentures and expenses of collection, the net income of these two quarters may be safely estimated at $7,500,000. And if the third and fourth quarters should be only equally productive with the two first, the receipts will equal the amount at which they were estimated in the annual report. But under our present system of duties, the receipts from customs in the ordinary course of commerce will always be greater in the two last quarters of the year than in the two first. The wolen goods which form so large a portion of our imports, are for the most part brought into the country in the third and fourth quarters of the year. The high duties with which they are charged, render them a very productive source of revenue; and being now payable in cash, they enter into the receipts of the third and fourth quarters in which the goods are imported. The receipts of these two quarters of the year will, therefore, exceed those of the preceding ones by at least one million of dollars.

Although not embraced in the resolution, it will not doubt be gratifying to the Senate to learn that the receipts from lands are equally encouraging, and will more than equal the amount at which they were estimated. The receipts into the Treasury, from this source, during the first quarter of the present year, amount to the sum of $1,398,206 18, while in the corresponding quarter of 1833, they amounted only to $668,526 66. And from the returns already received for the present quarter, the receipts of the two first quarters of this year from lands may be safely estimated at more than 2,000,000 dollars. In the annual report, the receipts for the whole year were estimated at 3,000,000 dollars. The information above stated, shows that the anticipated income from this source, as well as from the customs, will be more than realized.

Upon the whole, the information received since the annual report on the finances was made to Congress, affords satisfactory evidence that the extent of our foreign commerce has been fully sustained, and gives strong reasons for believing that the receipts into the Treasury, during the present year, will be greater than the amount at which they were estimated at the commencement of the present session.

But I beg leave to repeat what I have already said, in the annual report from this Department, that as the receipts of each year, under the present system of short credits and cash duties, must mainly depend on its own importations, as the estimates for the year can never be made with as much certainty as under the system, when the receipts chiefly depended on the duties, which had accrued in preceding years, and which were ascertained and secured by bonds before the time the estimates were presented.

And as all calculations on the amount of revenue hereafter to accrue, must be more or less uncertain, and are liable to be affected by unforeseen contingencies, it would hardly be proper to appropriate on a scale of expenditure fully equal to the expected income. There is, however, no reason for apprehending that the resources of the present year can fall short of the estimate contained in the annual report. And it is believed, that appropriations may be made with entire safety according to that estimate.

I have the honor to be, sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

R. B. TANEY.

Secretary of the Treasury.
Hon. MARTIN VAN BUREN,
Vice President of the United States, and
President of the Senate.

STENOGRAPHIC GLIMPSES OF CONGRESS.—No. 173.

Washington, June 20, 1834.—The weather has been so fine for a few days, the rumors of removals and resignations so rare, and "hope" and "hate" with the Whigs have been so long "deferred," and so unlikely to present to be gratified, that, in consideration of the promises, they are very desirous of prolonging the session. There is no prospect at present of any such relief to their "exasperated patriotism."

In Senate the morning was passed in considering the case of the French marines, killed and wounded by a salute from the frigate U. States, and making provision for pension for the wounded, and the families of those killed. Not knowing their grade, it was difficult to fix the amount of pension; but I believe this point was finally left to be settled by the Secretary of the Navy. The subject was brought before the Senate yesterday, through an Executive message. All parties concurred in the measure; but they differed about the mode and means. It was a case of first impression, for which there was no precedent. This business over, the Senate went into Executive business, to consider, as it was supposed, the nomination of Speaker Stevenson.

The House, after spending nearly three days in voting about $30,000 in the Appropriation Bill for surveys, and considering and re-considering the subject, left it this morning in statu quo, and are now at the point they started from.

The rules were set aside this morning to call up Mr. Polk's bill for regulating the deposits in the State Banks, &c. As this requires a vote of two thirds, and was carried without much trouble, we may suppose that the bill will probably pass the House with no very great opposition; but it is quite likely, and very probable, the Senate will veto it. If so, let them take the responsibility.

The case of the French marines was brought to the notice of the House, and the subject committed.

At 3 o'clock, the hour for which it was assigned, Mr. Polk's Deposite Bill was called up, and he proceeded to give his views upon it briefly. Messrs. Wilde and Foster, of Geo., and one other member, spoke on the subject, which indicates that the speeches will hereafter be brief. The House set till a late hour, and will probably take up the subject again to-morrow.

The Senate, I understand, considered, but did not determine Mr. Stevenson's nomination, and further I say not.

REIS EFFENDI.

"Calm as a summer morning."—The N. Y. Journal of Commerce announces, semi-officially, we suppose, that the Directors of the U. S. Bank have determined that no further curtailments shall take place at any of their branches for the space of six months at least—unless extraordinary events which cannot now be anticipated, should render it necessary—and that they make no secret of the determination. Mr. Biddle finds that he has gone too far already, and that it becomes him to be cautious, how he puts his panic machinery in motion a second time. His first crusade against the mercantile community having failed to extort a re-charter of a Bank, he has concluded to change his course, and endeavor to obtain by caution and pretended friendship, that advantage which the honesty and firmness of the people refused to grant him while under the influence of his screeds. But the latter plan will be equally unsuccessful. The great mass of the people are fully satisfied of the dangerous powers of the Bank, and will never consent to a re-charter of an institution whose principles and actions ever have been, and ever will be, in deadly hostility to the constitution and laws of the country.

The Democratic papers in Connecticut are reviewing the acts of the Legislature of that State with great severity. The unprincipled and proscriptive course which that body pursued at its last session, reflects deep disgrace upon the State—but may be ultimately productive of good by awakening the people to the true character of the Bank party, and the necessity of acting promptly and efficiently in the support of those principles which were so triumphantly sustained during the political revolution of 1817 in that state; a revolution which resulted in giving the state a liberal constitution, and a partial redemption from the galling bondage of the "blue-laws."

Spontaneous Combustion.—The Lancaster (Pa.) Journal publishes the particulars of a very singular instance of spontaneous combustion, which recently took place in that city. Mr. Adam Reigart had been presented, about two years before the occurrence, with a small piece of wood, evidently cedar, which had been detached from a large piece, found in excavating the deep cut of the railroad, at the Gap, in that county, about thirty-nine feet below the surface. This piece, weighing not more than two ounces, was broken in two, and laid upon a white pine shelf in Mr. Reigart's counting room. About three or four days before the discovery of the fire, Mr. Whitaker, a gentleman who resides with Mr. Reigart, on wiping the dust from the shelf with a wet cloth, took up the pieces of wood, and after having dusted the shelf, laid them as before. Three days after this it was discovered that one of the pieces had ignited, and combustion was progressing so rapidly that the shelf would have been in a few minutes on fire. On examination, a portion of one of the pieces was found reduced to ashes of a dark grey color, and from some of the outer fibres being sound, and ashes lodged in the interior, under them, it would appear that combustion had commenced, not upon the outer part of the wood, nor upon the sides which lay in contact with the shelf, but in the interior of the stick—the surrounding fibres being disintegrated by the action of the fire within, and ready to fall to pieces.

The Editor of the Globe has published his response, made through the Senate, to so much of the Report of the Post Office Committee as relates to his business transactions with the Department. It is a very conclusive document, and shows distinctly that every assertion made by that Committee, in regard to his transactions with the Post Office, is utterly false.

The Litchfield (Conn.) Democrat, very truly says that it would be but a work of supererogation to argue that that which is in South Carolina is "Nullification," in Maryland is "Revolution," in Pennsylvania is "the Bank," and in New York, Connecticut, and elsewhere, "Whiggery," is in the abstract Federalism, and nothing but old-fashioned Hartford Convention Federalism.

The Louisville Journal contradicts the report that the cholera has made its appearance in that city.

POLICE COURT.

A liberal spirit undoeth a man.—A day or two ago, Peter Brocklin was so straitened in his finances, as to be compelled to borrow a dollar, which the counsel, by the way, was so magnificent, as to term a "very small sum." This is a very aristocratic notion, and so Mr. Counselor would find it, if he should happen at any time to be minus the "very small sum," in a strange eating-house, with a craving bread-basket, i. e., a collapsed diaphragm, and no credit. But to the proof—On Saturday, the trunk of John Kendrick, his fellow-boarder, in Theatre Alley, was broken open, and deposits to the amount of $140, removed, which disarranged Kendrick's business very completely, and distressed him exceedingly. On Sunday, Brocklin was fierce for treating all his friends, but was observed to be very cautious in taking his money, always turning his back to the company. This maneuver created some speculation, which resulted in procuring his arrest, and the finding of upwards of $10 on his person, and drawing from him three contradictory statements. A piece of cord, known to have been in the trunk, before it was broken open, was found twined round Brocklin's finger, and other suspicious circumstances cohering thickly together, induced the court to order him to recognize in the sum of $500, in default of which he was committed.

Disappointed ambition.—Mr. Ostler Hoyt was appointed foreman pro tem, for one day, of a stable, whereby his senior comrade of the curry-comb, William Higgins, was superseded, and deeply chagrined at the slight practised on him. After his jealousy had fermented to a fight heat, he sought the first plausible pretext for letting off the steam; and while Hoyt was busy rubbing down a nag, sprung upon his back, like a monkey on a mastiff, and, fixing his thumbs behind Hoyt's ears, and his fingers between his eyes, he made a desperate attempt to dig them both out, but only succeeded in peeling off a few inches of skin, and left one deep scratch of three inches in length. Higgins replied, to an intimation that he was at liberty to speak, that "Hoyt wuz uv sich a narvous timper, that he did not wash to hiv anny correspondence with hum, anny how whativ'er." The Court said to him—"You appear to be a man fond of using your fists, and if you are permitted to indulge in the habit, you may become a dangerous man; and your attack was one of the most brutal kind, and not at all usual in civilized countries—and would hardly be tolerated among savages."—$3.00 and costs.

Ann Grimes—whether the daughter of the immortal John Grimes, or not, did not appear—at any rate,

"A comely lass is she—
Her frock is of the plainest kind,
And reaches to the knee."

Her apron was equally brief, and borrowed; and her eye was also quite singular, because she had but one, which was as grey and less expressive than a dead oyster. Thus prepossessing her personal appearance, she obtained the countenance, but not the complexion, of a clever colored crony, from whom she stole a pair of flat irons, which she sold for a trifle, and got drunk on the strength of it. The testimony against her was rather rugged and uneven, but Veteran Reid, the clincher, smoothed out the wrinkles in it, with his flat iron oath, which levels a prisoner like a plough-share at the roots of a potato stalk, and averred that he "had never seen her but once, when she was as logy as a fiddler."—20 days in jail.

Sons of men, having no where to lay their heads.—Harris Hamilton was in the habit of sleeping all night on the Common. He laid down on Saturday night, and neglecting to shut the gate before morning, caught a constable, which is a more incurable disease than a cold. Eliph Bemis was caught luxuriating in a market stall box among the vegetable fragments, which to nasal organs like Eliph's, attuned to such odors, might be more fragrant than roses.—Benjamin Nuttidge, a little old man cut short, was nuzzling upon the joys and sorrows of by-gone days, in a shed, being insensible to those of the present. His beard—an unrecaptured furze-brake—was an index of his fortunes—here a patch of grey, and there a patch of black, with brown intermixed, and all of Israelish length.—George Stoddard and Wm. G. Blake are wagoners—that is, they sleep in wagons all night to keep their wheels from running away with them. This whole squad of tattered rascals and unmitigated vagabonds, were sent, nem. con. to the House of Correction for six months.

Brient Courtney was brought up for examination the third time, on Saturday, upon a charge of murdering Daniel Hickey, and discharged. He brought forward a person who swore that he was in bed as early as 10 o'clock, on the night when Hickey disappeared.—He is held still on three other complaints, for fighting and rioting, and assaulting officers in the discharge of their duty.

N. B. We omit, for want of room, the achievements of sundry worthies, who were presented to Court yesterday; but we shall do exemplary justice to them to-morrow.

No pay, no play.—The performances at the Italian Opera House, New York were suspended one evening last week, Sign'a Lucia Bordogni refusing to play, until the arrears of her salary were paid. The inability of the manager to meet his engagements looks as if the New Yorkers had patronised his establishment with praise instead of dollars.

"My Granny's Department," is placed at the head of a column and a half of items in the New Haven Democrat. As most of them are cribbed we presume the editor means to lay the sin of the transaction at his granny's door. He must be a shockingly ungallant chap.

A correspondent informs us that a lady walking in Hanover street a short time since, had her work bag snatched from her arm by a boy, who made off at the top of his speed. He was overtaken and the work bag regained—but he ultimately made his escape.

Three Suicides have been attempted in Vermont recently, viz.—Mr. Henry Hamilton, of Wethersfield—Miss Wellington, of Perkinsville—and Juna Parker, Esq. of Cavendish. The two former were successful.

Dr Wm. Cooley, a veteran democrat of Manchester, (Ct.) declines accepting the appointment of Justice of the Peace, conferred upon him by the Wig Legislature of that State. He woud ride in that troop.

The P. O. Majority did not make a party report, if we are to believe their friends. Not at all—They happened however to omit the names of all the opposition editors, who are mail contractors, with newspaper privilege. They even forgot to mention that Major Noah, now editor of the N. Y. Star, received from the department, (all except about $1000 since April, 1829.) the sum of $7562 66, for printing, furnishing blanks, &c.—They forgot to mention that Simeon Ide, the publisher of an opposition newspaper, in Windsor Vt., has received a yet larger sum for the same articles. In your case, Major Noah, was there any thing wrong? The majority also forgot to mention that the mail contracts in New Hampshire and Vermont, against the arrangement of which they are so fierce, were up to December, 1832, Judge McLean's contracts, and that since the arrangement is essentially the same. In justice to Mr. McLean, they ought to retract, as he is not the man they wish to destroy. They have made many errors and omissions, which are rapidly coming to light. It was not a party report. That is out of the question with Mr. Ewing and his friends. They never do such things.—Pennsylvania.

A Cruel Robbery.—A German Emigrant Family were robbed of their all on board the steamboat Victory, on Saturday night last. This family were on their way to Ohio, having just money enough to pay their expenses thence, and to purchase a Farm upon their arrival.—While in New York they converted their bill of Exchange into specie, and deposited the amount (about $450) in a chest, which was placed upon the deck of the Victory. It was the intention of the Emigrants to sleep on their chest, but during the evening they say that the hands on board moved it so as to render it inconvenient to do so. About daylight they missed the chest, for which an unavailing search was made. On arriving at Albany, the Captain of the Victory dropped an anchor, sent for a police officer, and renewed the search before the passengers were allowed to land.—Nothing, however, was discovered. In the course of the morning three of the deck hands were arrested, but nothing satisfactory appeared against them, and they were discharged. Here the matter rested till Monday, when Mr. Baird, of Caldwell, informed Capt. Benson, of the Erie, that he had picked up an empty chest floating in the river, which proves to be the one lost by the German Emigrants. No doubt now remains but that the Victory's hands rifled the chest and threw it overboard.—Alb. Ecce Jour.

An accident of a very interesting character occurred in Penn Township a short time since. A woman having occasion to go to a grocery store early in the evening, took with her her child of about three years old. After purchasing the articles which she wanted, she was about returning home, when the child was missing.—Search was made in the neighborhood, two bell men were employed, and the neighbors generally turned out in search after the lost one, but without success.—About 12 o'clock, the afflicted parents retired to bed, but sleep was absent from their pillow—and early in the following morning the inquiry was resumed. The first place the mother stopped at was the grocery where she so mysteriously missed the child—and while talking with the proprietor at the door, she thought she heard some one breathing, and also the growling of a dog.—There was nothing apparently near her but a large sugar box, turned on its side, into which she instinctively looked, and to her joy and surprise, beheld her child, fast asleep, and kept warm by a faithful dog, which lay beside it. The animal was heard making a noise in the night, as if to attract attention.—U. S. Gaz.

The chambermaids of Edinburgh, were at the latest dates preparing themselves for a regular turn out for higher wages. They complain of the high price of silks and tooth powder, and insist upon additional wages to enable them to meet these expenses. They recommend a new system of legislation as regards the cast off robes of their lady employers, which is, that they shall be the judges as to the fact whether these dresses are sufficiently worn out, or in case of a difference of opinion upon the fact of their being old enough to give away, that the chambermaids of the neighborhood shall be called in as arbitrators, and from their decision there is to be no appeal. They recommend also that the cooks be secured in their rights, and lay it down as a cardinal principle, that all the kitchen fat and drippings of right belong to them. Our latest dates say nothing of the effect of this movement on the part of the chambermaids of Edinburgh.—Times.

"City of the Falls."—Some two or three years since, a company of speculators purchased a tract of land on the British side of Niagara Falls, and announced their plan of commencing a foundation of a city, to be called the "City of the Falls." They have not, it seems, met with that ready and profitable sale of the lots which they anticipated. They now propose to dispose of the investment by a lottery. Their scheme sets forth 2600 shares at $100 each,—each share being a house lot. The prizes are the Pavilion Hotel, and six other buildings which have been erected on the site, and which are now rented for considerable sums. By the scheme the holder of a share will be entitled to a house lot, and take his chance of obtaining one of the seven prizes. Drawing to commence in September next.—Salem Observer.

A Wheel within a Wheel.—Last Saturday a noted scamp named Bob Sandford was committed to bridewell for assaulting the family of his landlord; he was bailed out by Hewlett the African Roscius, and when the parties came on Monday to sign the recognizances, Hewlett was committed to prison for robbing the ship America—he stoutly protested his innocence and ignorance of the transaction; but on Tuesday Ben Hays found the stolen property at a house where Hewlett left it. Yesterday Bob Sandford offered some millstones for sale to Mr. Phillips, Duane st. who recognized them as his property, which had been stolen a month back.—Bob, on being taken to the Police office, said that he "hooked the stones out of the North river," but the Magistrate did not believe it, and sent him to keep Hewlett company in bridewell.—N. Y. Trans.

Louisville, (Ky.) June 12.—Melancholy Occurrence.—[Extract of a letter to the Editors of the Philadelphia Herald.]—A shocking occurrence took place here last week. A Mr. C. married Miss Buckner last week, a beautiful and interesting woman, of one of our most respectable families. On that evening, Mrs. Buckner, the mother of the bride, had a large quantity of custard made, and sent to the house of her married children. On Sunday, Mrs. Foster (her daughter,) was taken ill, and died in a few hours. While the company was assembling for her funeral, a daughter of her's became suddenly ill, and the funeral was postponed, that both might be buried together. Before this took place, Mrs. Buckner died—and, one after the other, eight have died, and nine more are dangerously ill.—Poison having been suspected, the servants are all in prison.

Camden, (N. J.) June 18.—Considerable excitement prevailed among the inhabitants of our city on Monday last, which was caused by the arrest of a young man belonging to Philadelphia, upon a charge of forcibly abducting a young girl, the daughter of a poor widow residing at Camden, from her home and the protection of her only parent. The accused was brought up before J. K. Covertwaite, Esq. and endured an examination, the particulars of which we have not learnt, and although many circumstances were elicited which involves the conduct of the individual in mystery and suspicion, yet it was not deemed sufficient to warrant his commitment for trial, and he was accordingly discharged.—Mail.

David Sherman, for the murder of his wife, paid the debt of the law at N. London, Ct., on Friday last. Many were disappointed, who had expected to see him hung, as he was executed in an enclosure in the presence of the officers of justice only.

Contempt of Court.—The Lancaster Journal mentions that a facetious gentleman of that city, on Thursday last, was accommodated with lodgings in jail, for interrupting a member of the bar, while engaged in pleading an important cause before the court, by offering him a couple of boiled eggs, with a sufficient quantity of sauce. The court punished the contempt by ordering him into custody. The offender offered bail for his appearance, but as he was there in his proper person, though a little disguised, the judge thought bail was not necessary. He was sent to another market with his eggs, for forty-eight hours.

We are glad to see that the President has appointed a Consul (Isaac Chase, Esq.) for the Cape of Good Hope. We have never before had a Consul in that colony, nor any need of one. But the opening of its ports to American commerce has caused a vast number of our wharves to resort there for provisions and repairs. During the first ten weeks of the present year, about thirty American ships put in there, and the number was constantly increasing.—Jour. Com.

Timothy Daly was drowned on Saturday evening, at Castle Island. He was a boatman in the service of the United States, (of Irish family) and had relatives living in this city. Returning to the Island about 11 o'clock, with a companion, as they were stepping out of the boat at the wharf, it upset, and he sunk almost immediately, within a few feet of the wharf, which his companion reached. His body was brought to the city yesterday morning, to receive the last sad offices from his bereaved parents and friends.—Trans.

About noon to-day, a young horse, harnessed to a gig, and belonging to Mr. Southack, baker, whilst standing unattended, took fright and ran down Court and State streets towards Long wharf, where he was brought up, having upset the gig and broke the shafts and whiffletree, and knocked down a truck horse that he met in his way. State street was crowded with persons and vehicles, at the time, and it is truly wonderful that no life was lost.—Ibid.

Fatal Accident.—The Charleston Patriot mentions a shocking accident that occurred in that city, on Friday morning week. A Mr. Lawrence McKimie had died and been interred the previous afternoon, and one of his sons had watched with a pistol during the night by the grave. In the morning a little brother aged six years old got hold of this pistol while still loaded, and discharged it, all unconscious of the result, at his youngest sister. The shot passed through the breast of the little victim, who instantly expired.

The grist and cotton mill in Cheltenham Township, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, of Mr. John Black, have been destroyed by fire. Mr. Black's loss is estimated at from 9 to 10,000 dollars. The cotton mill was rented by an individual who, by the unfortunate conflagration, has lost his all, the fruits of many years labor, and unceasing toil.

A private hospital has been established in Northampton for the reception and treatment of those afflicted with chronic diseases, and also for the performance of surgical operations. It will be under the superintendence of Dr. J. H. Flint of Northampton.

Warren Theatre.—A new drama, of great interest, under the mellifluous title of "Schinderhannes," will be brought out, this evening, for Mrs. Asbury's Benefit.—Mr. Blake represents a trio of jaw-crackers, and Miss PELBY makes a short transition from a simple market girl to a bandit Queen.

A young man by the name of Sweet, of Lebanon, (Ct.) fell from one of the Springfield steamboats on Friday last, and was drowned. He was intoxicated at the time.

Ominous.—The flat boat David Crockett, was lately run down and sunk by the steamboat Michigan.
